James Guerra

Web, Mobile, Software Developer

Profile

Passionate about technology, in particular web app, mobile app and software development. I have three months of industry level experience via Reesby Recruitment's Internship Program, where I focused on using ReactJS and Material UI for the project.
Most of my programming experience has been achieved through self learning, university and online courses. I currently have a moderate skill set, which can be seen on my GitHub <https://github.com/James-Guerra>. I believe I am job-ready with a dedicated mindset and great work ethic and more than ready to apply my skills in the workforce
